

STRIKE ALERT!

At Great Lakes Pilotage Authority in Cornwall

Workers at the Great Lakes Pilotage Authority (GLPA), are on strike as of November 18, 2019. These workers are represented by the Union of Canadian Transportation Employees (UCTE), a Component of the Public Service Alliance of Canada (PSAC).

PSAC/UCTE Local 00057, are the dispatchers and office staff at GLPA and they have been without a contract since June 30, 2016. The workers are integral to the operation of the seaway and the millions in economic trade that flow through it.

In addition, this work is important to the wellbeing of Canadians and the environment, with nuclear waste and oil transported along these waterways, we need to ensure the safe operations of these routes.

This round of bargaining has been extremely difficult. In an attempt to reach a fair contract, we have gone through the process of conciliation and mediation and we still have not reached a fair agreement.

This is why we have chosen to take strike action and why we need your help!

Please help us get a fair deal by contacting Michèle Bergevin, Chief Executive Officer at GLPA at: mbergevin@glpa-apgl.com or by telephone 613-933-2991 ext. 3
